The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

The Forgotten Elderly

Picture yourself as an 80-year old man. You live alone in a small cottage in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area.

Your sweet and loving wife, with whom you shared many years of happiness, has died and left you a widower several years ago.

You have no relatives.

You have no resources.

Your friends have either passed on or have found visiting too much of a chore. None visits.

A few years ago you were hit by an auto severely injuring your legs. The injuries became so ulcerated that the doctor for the past two years has kept them wrapped in bandages and forbids walking more than a few steps a day.

Your income is a pitifully few dollars that comes from social security. All of it goes to keep and body and soul together. All of it except a few dollars that must be spent for a taxi once a week to the market and back. Leg pain is too great to permit you to walk several blocks to the market and walk the long market aisles, too.

You are embarrassed when the pain becomes so great that you regain consciousness lying on the kitchen floor, cold and shaking. Every time it happens you promise yourself it mustn't happen again.

You are utterly embarrassed when a visitor comes during the holidays and finds your refrigerator completely bare since your funds won't come until the first of the month—five days away. The visitor replenishes your refrigerator with his own funds. Why must you suffer this indignity?

You were heartened recently by a newspaper-writer friend who told of an upcoming program here—Hot Meals for Senior Citizens. A local woman's group will deliver one hot meal a day to needy seniors. The food would be prepared in the local school cafeteria and the school would be paid by federal grant—but the grant has not been provided yet.

If the program starts before you die, you will also gain food for the mind. The ladies who bring the food will bring conversation. Conversation is as important as food to an old, ailing man. You have been so lonely since she left. Sometimes, now, several weeks pass without talking to anyone.

But you are proud. Your Basque background prevents accepting gratuities with easy grace. Yet, you could repay visitors with what you have left—the somewhat forgotten art of intelligent conversation. You have been schooled in philosophy and in music. You write and recite poetry of a delicate meter—and you have stacks of things you have written. You also have liberal amounts of music you have composed and sung—accompanying yourself on your guitar. The songs tell of youth and love.

But you are doubly cursed. You are old, tired and ailing but you have a still-active mind.

And you are lonely.

This accurate picture of a specific human who lives in your neighborhood is not offered to spur you to action. The picture is but a dab of paint on the canvas of a local scene.

Today we can look at the picture unemotionally. Tomorrow that old person may be you.

It is a sad picture.

Your Postage Stamps Helps Furnish PMG's New Office

U.S. Congressman H. R. Gross of Iowa helped hold back the latest increase in the postage rate by which two cents was to be added last week to the eight cent minimum for a first class letter.

As you know, postage has been leading the cost-of-living index with a 33 per cent increase a couple of years ago and 25 per cent more to be added as son as the U.S. Postal Service can clear a few more obstacles like Congressman Gross.

But Gross is genuinely mad. Specifically, he is mad at Postmaster General Elmer T. Klassen who he says has endorsed himself and his board of governors in lavish new surroundings in new headquarters in Washington, D.C. while the mail service continues to decline.

Gross claims it cost $38,500 to furnish Klassen's office and $130,600 on a conference, reception and board room. His receptionist will sit at a $1,576 desk. He has a couch that carries a $1,143 price tag and there are seven fancy chairs that cost $5,748. Eight less expensive chairs cost $1,990; a sofa $950 and a conference table, $1,044.92.

Other goodies: carpeting, $11,666 ($31 a yard); draperies, $5,999.50; drum table, $1,835; four settees, $3,297; two sofas, $3,349.80; eight conference tables, $11,660; 20 chairs and tables, $9,642; two credenzas, $2,664; 14 occasional chairs, $5,559.96, and a chandelier, $3,718.80.

The Postmaster General has his own pantry, says Gross, which cost $5,280 and a full kitchen that stood taxpayers $44,909. This led to the expenditure of $7,507.50 for 13 dining tables, $11,044.80 for 52 dining chairs and $4,240 for two sideboards. What's more, the PMG spent $12,900 on travel last year—when he should have been in the office trying to provide better service, Gross added.

Not only that, Gross concludes, there's a $194.50 telephone table in his office and he's trying to raise second class postage by as much as 42 per cent!

The Cost of Living Council, meanwhile, stepped into the picture as the year began and delayed the increase until March. It was not clear whether the Council thought the postage increase was inflationary or that the decision should be delayed until it could be decided that a greater increase would be needed to cover the PMG's profligate tendencies.

Conservation Note

A Los Angeles radio station moved a story this week about a youth who was cited by the California Highway Patrol for driving without lights at night during the recent rainstorm.

He told the officer that he had driven from St. Louis without turning his lights on even once.

He said he did it to conserve energy.

Little League Meeting Planned

Lemon Grove Little League upcoming season which begins general meeting will be held April 21. Registration begins Monday, January 14, at 7:30 January 26, Saturday, between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. at San Miguel Elementary School. Plans will be made for the coe and Nichols.

A HASSLE — Weather compounded the renovation of the curb dividers on Broadway in Lemon Grove, when the latest storm made puddles out of excavations cut by the county to provide more business access. This scene, taken in front of the entry to the Sheriff's Station, was repeated six times in the new dividers. To make things worse, a curb excavation in front of Crocker Bank Monday served as the trapping point for many unwary motorists. At least two had to be towed out, bank officials said.

LG Service Clubs Planning To Cooperate On Civic Project

Lemon Grove's three service clubs plan to cooperate on promoting a civic project of some magnitude during the coming year.

Preliminary discussions among the three presidents, Les Cleer of the Lions, Bob Guest of Rotary and Mike Carlen of Kiwanis, have been held to plan a date and a project to be presented at a joint meeting of the three clubs later in the year. Discussion has centered on beautification of the downtown area, Cleer said.

Meanwhile, Cleer revealed that screening of elementary school children from kindergarten through the second grade has been completed by the Lions Club in the Lemon Grove school district. Such screening is annually undertaken by the club to alert parents to possible eye defects so that sight may be corrected before the child is seriously affected. The Lemon Grove club is unique in the region, which covers San Diego and Imperial Counties, Cleer added, in that it is the only club which underwrites such a program.

A holiday fruit cake sale, Cleer added, was successful, with the funds helping to sponsor Bobby Sox and Pony League programs.

The Lemon Grove Lions are participating in a regional plan to buy an eyemobile for approximately $18,000. The traveling van will, when purchased, be available on a rotating basis to each area for eye examinations to help prevent blindness, a Lions Club objective.

This year's White Cane day will help defray part of this project's cost, Cleer indicated. The club will also, as in years past, march in the Lemon Grove Old Time Days parade. In February, the club will join the 16 others in the region in a Sweethearts Ball, to be held in the Town and Country Inn.

OTD Committee Meets Jan. 16

This year's Old Time Days Committee will meet next Wednesday in the office of Jim Dorman, 7748 Broadway, at 7:30 p.m.

Everyone interested is invited to attend the meeting January 16. The celebration will be held April 24 through April 27, with the parade scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. April 27.

Inquiries concerning Old Time Days can be made at the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce, 3415 Imperial ave., telephone 469-9621.

Kiwanians will concentrate this year on service to senior citizens, according to club president Mike Carlen and Woody Mott, publicist.

On the 18th of this month a chartered bus will take interested senior citizens to Grossmont College, so the elders can inspect the campus with the possibility of going to school in their golden years, Mott said.

"It know a couple of retired people who take night classes at Grossmont," he said. "It gives them something to do, and keeps their minds occupied."

The club is joining with the San Diego County Office of Senior Citizens Affairs in plans to provide senior citizens in the area with one hot meal daily.

In yet another activity involving senior citizens, club members will take one phone number and call each day to chat. Should there be no response to the telephone on two successive days, the Kiwanians will go to the home to make sure nothing is wrong.

A continuing program involves a student interest-free loan to help young people in college who are needy. The student goes to his counselor, who in turn calls on the Kiwanis Club.

About $40,000 has been donated to Mt. Miguel, Monte Vista and Helix High Schools to help pay for band uniforms and other expenses, Mott said.

Outlook For 1974

Lemon Grove Fire Protection District Healthy

The Lemon Grove Fire Protection District is enjoying normal health, thank you.

That is the outlook for 1974 given by the District Board of Directors and Fire Chief Fred Dixon.

Contributing to the District's virility are some changes that will surface this year.

An important one is the chief's new policy. "No more light duty positions exist in the District," Chief Dixon said. "Our men spend about one percent of their time fighting fires. We're going to use more of this time on inspection and fire abatement education programs," he said. The first step is already under way. A three-man inspection crew will provide inspection service throughout the district. They will use a special vehicle equipped with Code 3 equipment (two way radio, red lights and siren) so that they will be a "flying squad" that will respond to all alarms, the same as the other line men.

That activity is part of a larger program—that of conforming to the Uniform Code—a proposed county ordinance that sets higher standards than the district has had before.

Inspection To Tighten "Many commercial buildings will have to have more or better fire protection equipment," he said. "We will pick the more serious non-conforming items that fire safety dictates but we want to be sensible about it. We plan to bring the protection level up in small increments so that it won't be too painful for anyone."

There is another inspection duty for the "flying squad". A new state law governing

Over Protest, Junior High Fence Okayed

For the first time in a long time, an action of the Lemon Grove School Board was passed Tuesday night with one member not in agreement.

The "nay" vote came when John Linn, the newest member of the board of trustees, objected to security fencing, in the amount of $5,138, at Lemon Grove Junior High School.

Linn said that before he would vote for approval of the project, he wanted to see vandalism and arson costs for the school for the previous year. A projection was made in November that showed the district would probably suffer some $20,000 to $25,000 damage in vandalism this 1973-74 school year. No breakdown, however, was made for individual schools.

Linn's objections were based on his beliefs, expressed during the meeting, that security fencing would not solve the problem. An alternative, he suggested, would be on-site living quarters, such as trailer houses. This plan, he said, has been successful in other areas of California.

Board members Henry Reincke and Gordon Klee said they were ready to build the security fencing now, and would not want to wait for the incident such as the two school arsons that occurred in San Diego over the Christmas holidays to provide justification for building. President Jim Dorman joined the two in voting for the project. Warren Buckner was absent.

Principal Lou Poluzzi of the junior high told the board that in the last three years vandalism and attempted arson at the school has "gone up and up. Especially here, we now have five to ten fires a year."

The district will buy the materials, and the staff will do the work, newly confirmed foreman of buildings and grounds Gerald Heath told the board. This will cut the cost in half, since it would take another $5,000 in labor to contract the project.

Delayed By Energy Crisis

Route 94 Project 'Looks Good'

Although the project has been delayed by the energy crisis, revision of Route 94 should begin in the near future, according to information received from the state Department of Transportation.

"The project looks awfully good," said Oliver Tweeken, now interchanges with Route 125 to Bancroft avenue in Spring Valley, revision of the interchange, to provide more effective connection with city streets in both Lemon Grove and La Mesa, and construction of the Lemon Grove avenue (formerly Costa Bella avenue) interchange.

Completion is expected in 1974.

San Altos Drainage: Solution May Be Near

By Win Bowles

A three-way agreement between the Lemon Grove School District, the Madera Terrace subdivider and the county Flood Control District may relieve a drainage problem now affecting San Altos School.

Board of trustee members Tuesday night heard and approved a proposal by Superintendent Bob Sutton that a three-way split, subject to an okay by the subdivider, could cement a 1,330 foot flood control channel on school grounds at the edge of San Altos.

The Flood Control District has agreed, Sutton told board members, to divide the cost of about $43,000 with the district, and it is possible the subdivider will split the district's cost, lowering the price to the neighborhood of $10,000.

Sutton said that he and Paul Reynolds, his assistant for business, had met with the flood district commissioners, and they had offered to foot half of the bill, up to $25,000. Next, Sutton said, is an attempt to get the Madera Terrace builder to split the district's cost. The flood control channel is wholly on school property, and for drainage to runoff from Madera Terrace, the builder will need an easement from the district.

Seven hundred feet of the ditch, Sutton said, is muddy, smelly, and half-filled with water and debris. One other subdivision now drains into the channel, and building of Madera Terrace—now in the map stage—would compound the problem. Once the channel is lined with cement and a bank line is put up, the county has agreed to take over maintenance.

An attempt by Sutton to get the board to change its policy toward subdivisions was denied, with members clinging to their previously adopted standards of looking at each development as it is planned.

The county has no set fee for relieving school districts of the added burdens which subdivisions bring to schools, Sutton noted. Lemon Grove attempts to collect $300 per dwelling unit from developers, but has no way of enforcing such collection, unlike San Diego City, which has enacted an ordinance giving its unified school district help from housing promoters.

Rain, Rain Go Away!

Wednesday morning, while the weather forecasters were predicting sunshine, it was raining in nearby El Cajon.

It just goes to show that once weathermen get away from predicting sunshine, they're lost.

Taking a backward look, rain forecasters bettered their average during the past eight days. It rained every day this year, so far. A total of 3.82 inches fell in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area and interestingly, it brought no flooding emergency calls to the local fire departments. Neither the Spring Valley nor Lemon Grove departments had a single request listed on their logs for the period of the storm.

The rainfall, day-by-day:

Jan. 1—	.21
2—	.11
3—	.02
4—	.15
5—	1.50
6—	.21
7—	.65
8—	.97

The eight-day, 3.84-inch rainstorm brought the season total to 5.97 inches. That compares with 7.18 inches on the same date in 1973.

Rain seasons are from July 1 each year. Rain days end at 4 p.m.

Also budgeted for 1974 is a realignment of 94 three miles south of Jamul, at Rancho Jamul road, to ease a curve. The project includes construction of a culvert at Jamul Creek, to improve drainage. Projects completed during 1973 included ramp construction from Avocado boulevard to 94 near Spring Valley, at a cost of $13,600, with the work being done by the Griffith Company, and resurfacing of the roadway, plus drainage, on 94 east of Spring Valley. That work was done by the R. E. Hazard Construction Company at a cost of $91,800.

Lowest Insurance Rate

The budget is not a major concern as the year begins. "We are in the fortunate position of needing no new equipment at present," he said. "And the District has the lowest insurance rate of any fire protection district in the county. Our fire loss is well under $1 per capita. The greatest loss we had in any month last year was $9,000. We're proud of that!"

Bill Wardwell, the president of the fire board, is equally proud of the District and the men in the department. "We have a fine department," Wardwell said. "Of course we have the problems that come with times like these. There at 7 p.m.

Teach 'Em To Laugh

You and Your Pet

By Raymond A. Minor, D.V.M. Occasionally puppies will turn up for sale that have not been properly weaned. They will cause problems because they do not yet know how to eat from a dish. To avoid this problem, ask about the puppy's diet and if possible, watch him eat some of his regular food.

Try to pick a pet between 8 and 12 weeks old. At this age, your pet can easily be housebroken and usually has not had time to pick up any bad habits. Watch the animal play. There should be no limping or reluctance to touch the feet to the ground.

You should also have your new pet checked out by your veterinarian. And while you're at the veterinarian's office, make arrangements for any necessary shots, if they have not already been given. Distemper and rabies shots are recommended for both cats and dogs.

Many people feel that a cool, wet nose is a reliable indication that a dog is healthy. Unfortunately this isn't always true. And it doesn't apply to cats at all. If you are buying a show animal, other factors must be considered. Things like extra toes may be enough to disqualify your dog or cat from competition. If you are choosing an animal to show, take a breed expert along with you or buy from a reputable kennel. Your veterinarian may be able to recommend someone for you to contact.

Dr. Minor regrets that he is unable to personally answer letters from pet owners. He suggests that readers consult their own veterinarians when their pets have problems.

Run your hand over the animal's coat. The coat should feel clean and soft. Examine coarse or rough spots. Parasites like ticks can be removed easily. However, if the skin is inflamed or hair is missing, it may be a sign of skin infection. Stay away from an infected animal, especially if you have other pets at home.

The pet should have little or no odor. If there is one, check ears and mouth. The odor may be caused by mites gathered in the ear or it may be from a decayed tooth.

Fifth and sixth grades will meet Fridays at 4 to 5 p.m. beginning Jan. 18 and will study "Vertebrate Animals" using movies, observation and dissection. They will supplement classroom study with trips to the zoo and first hand observation.

"Canyon Quest" is the title of the junior high class which will meet Wednesdays from 4 to 5 p.m. starting Jan. 16. Students will study wild canyon communities and the interrelationships between plant, animal, earth and weather and consider them in the light of man's constant intrusion. Several field trips into local canyons will serve as basis of the study.

For the senior high student, the course offered is "Research in Life Science", an advanced course which provides an opportunity to look into interesting problems in life science and attempt to find methods for their solution. The course will involve contact with the curators and allow the student to observe their daily routine and use of professional literature in the Museum's library. Classes are limited. Call the Museum's Educational Activities Dept. for details at 232-3821.

38,000 Truckers Cited For Speed

Truck speed arrests moved sharply higher during 1973 and fatal accidents involving trucks were down approximately 10 per cent for the year, Highway Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski said.

Approximately 38,000 truck drivers were arrested for speeding according to the Patrol's 1973 provisional statistics. Pudinski said the figure is the CHP's all-time high and is 24 per cent above the 1972 total.

More than 150,000 additional truck drivers were cited for other offenses which ranged from reckless driving to overweight loads and driving vehicles that violated legal smog limits.

As speeding arrests soared fatal and injury accidents involving speeding trucks declined. By October fatal accidents were down 11 per cent from the 1972 record.

Stull Notes Road Action

Santa John Stull (R-38th District) today made note of recent action by the California Highway Commission.

"The Highway Commission has approved highway construction budget items for the coming fiscal year. In the San Pasqual area, from .8 mile west of Guejito Creek Bridge to 5.2 miles northwest of Ramona, the roadway will be widened and resurfaced at an estimated cost of $410,000.

"On Route 94, near La Mesa, the route 94/125 interchange will be revised and a Lemon Grove interchange will be constructed.

"North of Rancho Bernardo and into Escondido on Route 15, construction of an eight lane freeway will be started for completion in late 1975 or early 1976.

"The construction of I-15 is in conformity with my successful SCR 42 indicating the State Legislature's priority concern for I-15," Stull said. "I look forward to the danger and congestion on this route to be overcome in the next few years," he concluded.

San Diego Doubles Parking Meter Fees

It will cost you twice as much to park in downtown San Diego these days.

Last week, the San Diego City Council doubled the parking meter rates in 4,810 zones. The hourly fee went up from five cents to ten, and two-hour zones were cut to one hour.

City officials said the move is designed to cut downtown traffic, prevent meter-feeding, encourage bus riding and ease congestion. It will also probably double the $450,000 San Diego collects annually from the meters.

Forestry Film Shows

The film presentation at the Natural History Museum on the weekend of Jan. 12 and 13 is titled "To Touch The Sky", a 23 minute, color exploration of modern forestry narrated by Eddie Albert. Included are magnificent scenes of forests in America plus shots of harvesting and planting. Films are shown in the Museum's auditorium Saturday at 3 p.m. and Sunday at 1:30 and 3 p.m.

Task Force On Energy Organized

Representatives of city and county government, the San Diego Unified School District, the San Diego Gas & Electric Company, and the Ninth District Parent-Teacher Association in San Diego County have joined to form a new community task force on energy-conservation education.

The primary goal of the task force is to compare and exchange energy-saving concepts throughout the county. Each task force member has submitted his agency's progress report on energy saving to the community educational resources section at the county Department of Education, which is acting as a clearing-house for the information.

"We realize that other community groups are forming advisory bodies on the subject," said M. Ted Dixon, county superintendent. "But this task force fills the unique need to compare and exchange solutions to the problems."

Molly Jean Aubrey, community consultant, explained the PTA officers first pointed out the immediate need for public agencies, including school districts, to compare notes on energy-saving policies. "Envisioning a total community effort, we are integrating this task force input with our existing plans for community seminars on energy-saving and classroom participation after January 1," she said.

The task force members believe that energy savings will result from the comparing and sharing of progress reports by school districts and government agencies who are being contacted to participate. More important, according to Mrs. Aubrey, they are hoping to see inventive competition among agencies and districts to achieve full participation in energy-conservation education by employees, teachers, and students.

Speede Beer Burglarized, Loses $5,000

New Year's, 1974, was not so happy for Bert J. Chabot of La Mesa, owner of Speede Beer Delivery, 3515 Harris st., Lemon Grove.

Chabot reported to Deputy Sheriff W. L. Pelley the loss of between $5,000 and $10,000 in a burglary New Year's Eve at his place of business.

Both inner and outer offices were prowled by the thieves, who pried open a back door to gain entry to the business.

The sheriff's office was notified by Henry N. Wayne, a driver, of 7878 Palm dr., Lemon Grove, when he arrived for work at 7 a.m. New Year's Day.

Beer had a banner year in California during 1973 with consumption figures and tax totals both setting all-time records.

Figures released here this week by Geo. W. Ososke, vice president and Western District director of the United States Brewers Assn., indicate that Californians consumed 13½ million barrels of beer and in so doing poured more than $227½ million of tax money into federal, state and local treasuries.

A hearing on the proposed annexation of the Mountain Empire area to the Grossmont Community College District is scheduled today in the Mountain Empire High School auditorium in Campo, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

A plan to annex the Coronado area to the Sweetwater Community College District will be discussed at a public hearing, Tuesday, Jan. 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the Coronado High School multipurpose room, 650 D ave., Coronado.

Two hearings have been scheduled on a tentative plan to organize the following six areas into one community college district: the Oceanside, Carlsbad and Palomar Community College Districts, the San Dieguito and Julian High School Districts, and the Borrego Springs and Ramona Unified School Districts. The first hearing will be held Wednesday, Jan. 16, at the Earl Warren Junior High School cafeteria, Lomas Santa Fe drive and Stevens street in Solana Beach. The second will be held the following night, Jan. 17, at the Julian High School multipurpose room, 1656 Highway 78 in Julian. Both hearings will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The tentative reorganization plans were adopted Nov. 28 by the county Board of Education. Each plan provides for the holding of an election on annexation or on the formation of a new district. In adopting these plans and scheduling public hearings, the county Board of Education acted as the County Committee on School District Organization, as authorized by state law.

After hearing public comments on the reorganization plans, the board is expected to take a final vote on each plan Feb. 27. It will then notify the county Board of Supervisors of its actions and forward the plans to the Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges for approval. Once approved by the state, elections will be held in those communities which are affected by the reorganization.

Commenting on functions of the new center, Dixon said that career guidance personnel in the schools have typically not had sufficient information about relevant tests, occupations, local employment opportunities, and occupational skills which are required in various fields of employment. "Effective career guidance in-service activities and materials must be developed to alleviate training gaps for practicing school counselors," Dixon said.

"With the rapid increase in the number of adults returning to school, and the need for career guidance due to career changes, early retirement, or job dissatisfaction, the need for a convenient source of career assistance is evident throughout the community," Dixon said. "This center will help to meet these needs, and we feel fortunate that our office was selected to pilot this model career guidance center."

The project will serve 422 elementary schools, 38 junior high schools, 60 senior high schools, 18 continuation schools, eight community colleges, 15 adult schools, five four-year colleges and universities, and 55 public libraries, Dixon said.

Sales Increase

Preliminary data from the 1972 Census of Selected Service Industries show that receipts of 70,611 selected service establishments with one or more employees totaled $12,286 million, an increase of 42 percent over the $8,646 million reported in the 1967 census.

Public Hearings Scheduled On Community College Plans

Four public hearings have been scheduled by the San Diego County Board of Education to discuss three tentative organization plans for community college districts as required by state law.

The proposed plans, if successful, will place all territory currently not a part of a community college district. This must be accomplished by September, 1975.

County areas presently not included in a community college district are those encompassed by the Julian High School District, the San Dieguito High School District, and the four unified school districts of Borrego Springs, Coronado, Ramona, and Mountain Empire.

San Diego Selected For Career Guidance Center

San Diego County's pioneering efforts in career education have been rewarded with a $260,000 state grant to set up a "model" career guidance center in Southern California which other areas will duplicate in future years, according to M. Ted Dixon, county superintendent.

The center will be located at the county Department of Education, 6401 Linda Vista rd., San Diego, with services extended to youth and adults throughout San Diego and Imperial Counties. Dr. Edwin A. Whitfield, guidance coordinator at the Department of Education, will direct the project.

Six of the seven state evaluators gave their highest rating to San Diego County's application, which was one of 16 received by the state in response to recent legislation authorizing the project.

The funds will be used to expand current activities of the Career Information Center at the county Department of Education, such as identifying local career resources, assisting adults and out-of-school youth with career planning, and disseminating published information about career opportunities through schools, libraries, and adult career guidance centers.

New services to be provided by the project include a computerized career information system, development of career education curriculum units, and establishment of guide lines for future career centers in California. The project also provides for televised service programs for teachers, counselors, aides, and employees of community agencies.

Two guidance coordinators to be employed under the project will spend part of their time collecting and analyzing commercial and non-commercial vocational testing materials and procedures. The new center will serve as a regional depository for tests and curriculum materials in the field of career education.

The Career Information Center's mobile counseling vans and dial-a-career telephone service will continue to operate unchanged as part of the new center, Dixon said. Also, the "Career Information Directory" will continue to be

Drivers Warned Not To Carry Extra Gas Cans

California drivers trying to beat the gasoline shortage have come up with a deadly new gimmick — strapping gas cans to the back of their vehicles. CHP officers reported they saw a number of holiday travelers up and down the state with gasoline cans mounted outside the vehicle — particularly on campers and motorcycles.

"Carrying gasoline cans inside the vehicle or in the trunk is a severe hazard, but placing them on the outside is even more dangerous," Highway Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski pointed out.

Pudinski said the Patrol had no reports of fires involving an exterior mounted can — yet. "But the hazards of carrying gasoline were illustrated once again in a recent single-vehicle crash near Buellton.

"The car rolled over on Route 101 and burst into flames when three gasoline cans ruptured. The driver was ejected, unconscious, near the burning car but was carried to safety by two CHP officers who saw the crash. The two passengers fortunately were not severely injured and got out of the car in a hurry," Pudinski said.

The vehicle was carrying one 5-gallon and two 1-gallon cans and all ruptured in the rollover. "Only circumstance prevented one or more of the occupants from burns and possible death, as the car was destroyed by the fire," Pudinski said.

Ali-Frazier Fight on Closed TV

San Diego fight fans will be able to see Muhammad Ali again—telecast live and in living color.

He'll be on the big screen when he fights Joltin' Joe Frazier Monday January 28.

The fight will be at the San Diego Sports Arena and the San Diego closed circuit telecast will be sponsored by Louis Lake a San Diego boxing entrepreneur.

The fight between the two former world heavyweight champions promises to be an exciting one since the two pugilists literally despise each other, according to Lake.

Ali suffered his first defeat at the hands of Frazier March 8, 1971, but Ali disputed the decision. Frazier was crowned heavyweight king, nevertheless.

The January 28 fight will be telecast from New York's Madison Square Garden starting at 7:30 p.m. Tickets to the fight are $10.25 and $12.25 including parking. An exciting undercard is also programmed, according to Lake.

Another interesting element is that two of the top fight managers will be in the corner at the fight. Angelo Dundee, as usual will be with Ali, and Eddie Futch, trainer for Kenny Norton who lost one and won one at the hands of Ali, will be with Frazier. Futch has said that Frazier can whip Ali.

Coincidentally, perhaps, the first Ali-Frazier fight will be telecast for home consumption on January 20.

Lake, at one time, promoted fights at the Coliseum in San Diego and was instrumental in helping to bring the Ali-Norton fight off in San Diego last year.

Tickets are available now at all Arena ticket agencies, Lake said.

Cleveland National Forest Names Don Smith Supervisor

Donald H. Smith, 43, has been appointed Forest Supervisor of the 567,000 acre Cleveland National Forest with headquarters in San Diego.

Smith, a native Californian, attended school in San Francisco and then studied at Oregon State University where he received his Bachelor of Science degree in Forest Management in 1956.

Following two summers as a fire fighter with the California Division of Forestry, Smith began his career with the Forest Service on the Umpqua National Forest in Southwestern Oregon. Following assignments in timber sale administration and fire planning he was promoted to district ranger on Mt. Hood National Forest where he served from 1962-1968.

He then spent 2 years in national headquarters in Washington D.C. as a fire training specialist. For the past three years just prior to his new assignment he served as Chief, Branch of Fire Control, for the Intermountain Region of the Forest Service which includes Utah, Southern Idaho, Western Wyoming and Nevada.

Smith has twice received awards for outstanding performance. He is an active member of the Society of American Foresters, and in his spare time enjoys wood carving, fishing and is an avid sports fan. Smith, his wife, a son and twin daughters will reside in the San Diego area.

Matadors Lose To Grossmont

By Rodger Price

Mt. Miguel's varsity basketball team opened the Grossmont League season Tuesday night with a loss to Grossmont on the Miguel court, 74-62.

The game was fairly exciting in the last few minutes as Miguel came back to within 6 points only to lose it in the final two minutes.

Steve Solomon kept the Matadors alive with an excellent 27 point effort followed by Jess Jenner with 15 points. Rueben Ray tallied 6. Berwyn Parker, Dale Hoffman, Chris Landrey, and Bob Baxter each had 4 and Jim MacPherson threw in 2.

The Matadors next face off against Monte Vista in a game sure to be exciting and rough. Game time is at 8:00 p.m. on the Monte Vista court.

LG's Mrs. Ward On Jury Panel

Mrs. June G. Ward, a Lemon Grove housewife, has been announced as one of 30 candidates for this year's county grand jury by Judge James L. Focht, president judge of the Superior Court.

The 19 jurors to compose the panel for 1974 will be chosen at 10 a.m. next Tuesday. Mrs. Ward resides at 3346 Sweetwater way.

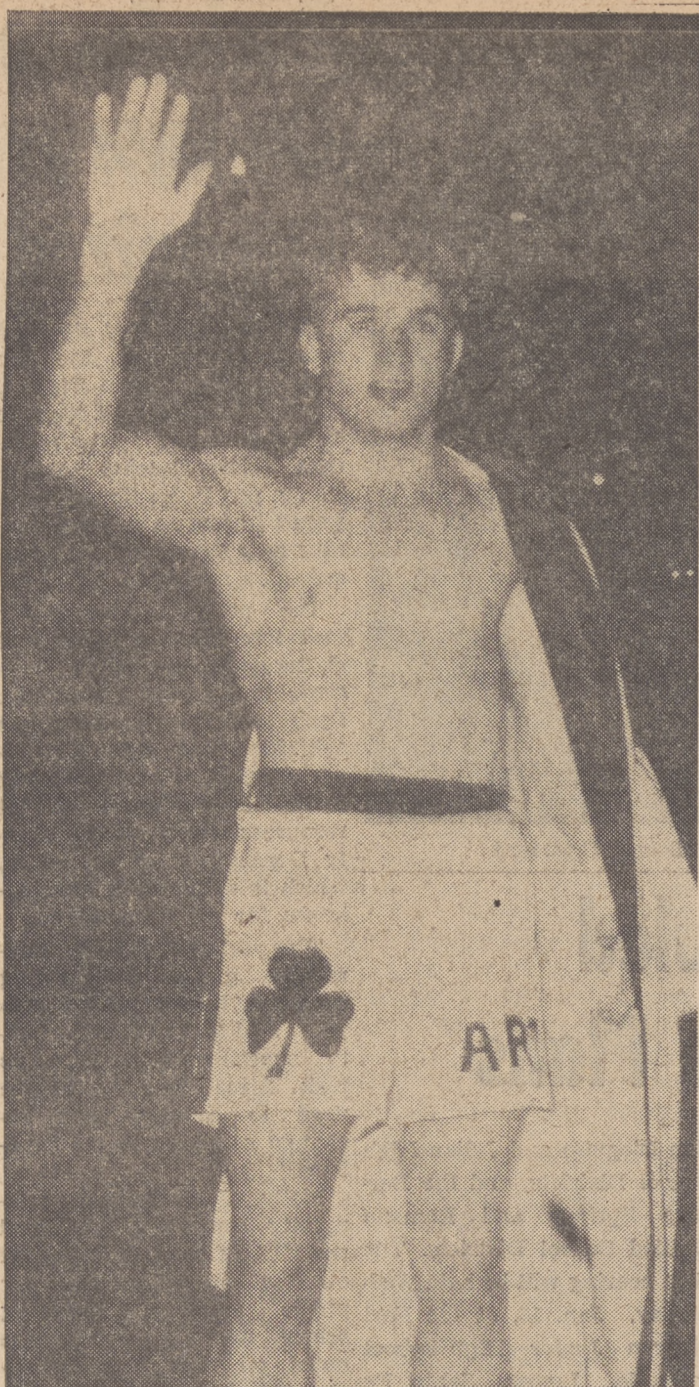

Charge Eased

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The homebuilders fee of $200, payable to the County of San Diego for the purchase of park lands, will be dropped from the cost of those building homes on sites of two acres or more.

The fee, which was invoked on February 17, 1973, has produced revenues of over a million dollars in the first 10 months.

The charge is presently made against each new dwelling and the proceeds are used exclusively for acquiring park land.

Supervisor Dick Brown explained that it was difficult to explain to a person with a home of 10-20 acres why he should have to pay the park fee.

Aztec Hoopsters Start NCAA Play

The most important part of a long hard road trip comes up this week when the San Diego State University basketball team opens PCAA play against San Jose State and Pacific.

The Aztecs have already played Creighton and Oklahoma on the five game road swing, losing to the Bluejays 79-61 and the Sooners 91-66.

San Jose State carries an 8-4 mark into tonight's game with the Aztecs in San Jose's Civic Auditorium at 8 p.m. The Spartans, who lost to Santa Clara, 81-76 on Saturday, are led by Pete Miller (14.6) and Ken Mickey (12.5 and 5.5 assists). Guard Eric Saulny, who was averaging 13.2 after five games, has a leg injury and will not face the Aztecs. The Aztecs and Spartans split the two games last season with San Jose winning in San Jose 52-50 and San Diego winning at home 76-73.

Saturday at 1 p.m. the Aztecs conclude the five game 12 day road trip, playing Pacific in the Stockton Civic Auditorium. Both the San Jose State and Pacific games will be on KFMB radio (760) with Ron Reina calling the play-by-play.

State Baseball Team To Open Workouts

Two-a-day workouts open this week as the San Diego State Baseball team opens spring practice.

Coach Jim Dietz will greet a squad of 31 players with most of the final cuts already made during winter ball. Back from last year's 31-25 team are first baseman Mike Anaya (.231), infielder Steve Callahan (.210), second baseman Ray Cocco (.301), pitcher Jeff Cole (.20, 3.77), pitcher Bill deLorimer (.61, 2.57), catcher Bob Gale (.241), outfielder Billy Getz (.380), infielder John Helfrick (.314), outfielder George McPherson (.200), outfielder Darold Nogle (.287), outfielder Steve Vickery (.238) and shortstop Kurt Wittmayer (.205).

The top newcomers are all pitchers. Lefthander Wayne Steele from Hoover High School heads the list that includes righthanders Marty French from Grossmont College and Dave Smith from Poway High School and lefty Doug Morrison from Livermore High School.

The tentative opening day lineup could read: Jim Skalen, a sophomore from Coronado High School at first base, Cocco at second, Wittmayer at short, Helfrick at third, Getz, McPherson and Vickery in the outfield and Gale catching. Steele, French, Smith, Morrison and Cole figure to be the starting pitchers.

A 58 game schedule is on tap with the highlights being a three games series with defending NCAA Champion USC, six games with U. of Arizona, three against UCLA and a long homestand in March with Washington, Utah, Santa Clara and California. The conference slate will consist of 26 games this year.

The season opens February 8 against Cal Poly (Pomona) in Pomona. Most of February will be spent on the road, but a highlight of the month will be the first appearance ever of USC in San Diego on February 16.

Third-Rated Aztecs In Swim Tri-Meet

San Diego's swim team after two weeks in Hawaii, will get back to competition this week with a triangular meet against PCAA foes Fresno State and Long Beach State. The meet will be Friday at 8 p.m. in the Belmont Plaza pool in Long Beach.

Long Beach is rated second in the pre-season PCAA polls with Fresno fifth. The Aztecs are rated third.

While in Hawaii, the Aztecs competed in the fourth annual Barbers Point Water Carnival against such teams as California, Southern Illinois, Wisconsin and San Jose State. There were no team scores kept in the Carnival, but the Aztecs captured two of the five individual events.

Dave Robinson won the 100-meter butterfly in 1:01.6 to set a meet record. The old mark was 1:02.7 by Rick Klatt, formerly of University of New Mexico after swimming as a prep in Escondido. Jim Makuta of the Aztecs won the 100-meter breaststroke in 1:13.6.

Danish Gym Team At Southwestern

The fall Artist/Lecture Series at Southwestern College will feature as its final guest "The Danish Gym Team" who will perform in the College gym on Friday evening, January 18 at 7:30 p.m.

The performance will include folk-dancing in costume as well as rhythmic gymnastics and artistic vaulting. The rhythm, grace, and startling physical gymnastics accompanied by background music, will inspire the viewer, as those who have seen the Danish Gym Team before can testify.

Denver Roughriders Due Friday to Challenge Gulls

A weekend of hockey action is upcoming for local fans. Last weekend San Diego Friday the Denver Spurs—Arena, beating the Totems 6-4 and playing to a 4-4 standoff on Saturday night the Gulls at the Sports Arena, against the Salt Lake Golden Eagles.

Rookie goalie Jim Makey, making only his second appearance of the season against the Totems, gave up four goals in the first period alone and then shut the door the rest of the way for a splendid San Diego 6-4 win. Kerry Bond and Bernie Gagnon scored two goals each for San Diego. Gerry Goyer and Brian Dick also tallied for the blue and orange.

The Russian National hockey team whipped the Gulls but compiled a 15-4-1 record. In their last 12 games at the Sports Arena, the Gulls have 10 victories, one tie and one loss.

On the road, Coach Jack Evans and his squad started off by losing their first seven youngsters 14-and-under that games. Since then the Gulls night.

It'll be puck night again on Saturday, Jan. 19 when Seattle makes a return visit. 5,000 pucks will be awarded to off by losing their first seven youngsters 14-and-under that games. Since then the Gulls night.

New Type Hong Kong Flu Appears In California

A new but milder form of Hong Kong flu has appeared in California, the State Department of Health reported today.

Dr. James Chin, chief of the department's infectious disease section, said the B/Hong Kong/72 virus was discovered in a South San Francisco family, and was identified in the virus laboratory at Berkeley.

A culture of the virus was sent to the U. S. Center for Disease Control in Atlanta for further study, he said. The virus first was reported in Hong Kong in 1972.

"Type B influenza viruses are fairly common but less so than the more dangerous Type A," Dr. Chin said.

"They generally cause a milder illness, with fewer complications, and they spread more slowly than Type A."

Dr. Chin said a vaccine to combat the new virus was prepared last spring but the supply in California has been nearly exhausted.

Persons who become ill should deal with the flu in time-honored fashion, he added, getting plenty of bed rest, drinking lots of fluids and dosing themselves with aspirin to ease discomfort. Fortunately, the effects of Type B influenza on children and the elderly are reportedly less severe than Type A.

The influenza season in California generally starts in December and peaks in February. The Type A English flu, which caused extensive illness in the 1972-73 season, has not yet reappeared in California and is expected to cause less illness this year.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

It isn't exactly that it comes so much as a surprise. I mean, there were warnings if you knew what to look for and where to search.

Strange things have come to pass, for lo, these many months and even an unbeliever like the ungifted sort pounding out this report should have expected something of the like.

Bob Breitbard and Peter Graham. The original Odd Couple. Who would have ever thought the day would come when they would join forces?

Certainly not me. Never, and I don't proudly a badge of lack of faith.

But the believers knew it all along.

They say the Ol' Conjure Woman of El Cajon climbed high in the Cuyamacas during the first full moon of summer and had a vision. Reports were her cackles quaked the owls from their nests when she predicted the ice would melt while staying fast and hard.

A quick look at the dream book tells you this means peace in the rink and success in a bid for a National Hockey League franchise.

And so it came to pass that Bob Breitbard, the gentleman who owns the flock, has taken up with the man who has, at least he says he has, till now played the part of the curly wolf.

Peter Graham, the "Ugly Canadian." The man who said, "If you don't like the way I run my arena, buy your own and run it to suit yourself." The man who wouldn't open for a dentist. That Peter Graham.

He could, and would, fight anybody. Lawyers, commentators, columnists and country hacks. He smiled at his enemies, new and old, stood his ground and told the world where to go. He was a curly wolf alright and loved the role.

But then something happened. A change came over the land. Could it be the great comet Kohoutek blazed silent heat that burned the walls away? Was this the dream the Cajon Conjure Woman cackled about?

Star gazers say the light has gone from Kohoutek. Gone where, we wonder? To do what?

There were no reports of high tides, or earthquakes, or giant landslides knocking civilization for a loop.

Could it be Cajon Conjure magic? Could the missing light of Kohoutek warm the heart of Graham and set him to the task of tearing down the walls he claimed lie between him and other folk.

Or perhaps the missing light is merely that. Light. And we see much better now. Perhaps we see how the paths we travel are sometimes blocked and how a pair can sometimes do what one can not.

Bob Breitbard has always... well, mostly always... been a certified "good guy." Now Peter Graham stands beside him and wears the same kind of hat.

The biggest shock of all is borne to those who prophesied the pair would never wed.

But the deed is done. They have pledged their worldly goods and honest efforts to bring forth an NHL franchise. And for a pair such as this, whose individual abilities have carried them so far along the path of success, togetherness is accomplishment.

In the shorter view, we will have National Hockey in our town. It's coming. Make no mistake of that.

But if you doubt these words, please hike out to the Cuyamacas and look up the Cajon Conjure Woman. Surely you have better sense than to doubt so gifted a one as she.

Two Toreros Closing In On All-Time Cage Mark

Forward Robert Smith and guard Stan Washington both leads the San Diegans with a 17.4 scoring average and has 1,147 career points. Smith, 6-7 senior, is next with a 16.8 average and has 1,153 points and it appears one or both could break it in upcoming road appearances.

The Toreros, fresh from a third place finish in the Point Loma College tournament, continue their away from home play with a Saturday night journey to Chapman College.

Then come games at Northern Arizona University Jan. 14, Grand Canyon College, Jan. 15, Cal Poly Pomona, Jan. 22 and Cal State Fullerton, Jan. 25. USD does not return to its home court until a Jan. 29 bout with Washington State University of the Pacific Eight Conference.

The Toreros captured two of three games in the Point Loma tourney, defeating Biola College and host Point Loma and losing in the semifinals to eventual champ Azusa Pacific College. Smith was named to the all-tournament first team while Washington garnered a second team spot. Washington, 6-4 senior,

Both players, however, have more important matters at hand. The Toreros have seven wins in 12 outings and five consecutive road contests make it difficult to enhance that reading.

Support in that effort will come from 6-9 junior center Neil Traub at 10.5, 6-6 forwards Pete Cosenza and Ben Thompson at 9.3 and 8.8 respectively, and 6-0 guard Joe DeMaestri at 6.9.

Smith is tops in rebounds with 148, Traub is next at 112 and Thompson third at 81.

The overall play of DeMaestri in his new starting role, Cosenza as the squad's sixth man and Thompson in both scoring and rebounding has been a lift for coach Jim Brovell. He feels San Diego is first team while Washington should have a strong second half on the 1973-74 schedule.

Gymnastics Clinic Planned Saturday at San Diego High

A day-long men's gymnastics clinic will be presented by Athletes Afflight Saturday at San Diego High School's gymnasium, it was announced last week.

Don McDaniels, coach of Athletes Afflight, said the clinic will feature Russ Hoffman, three times All-American on the side horse; Paul Tickenhoff, likewise three time All-American; Larry Bellow, an All-American in still rings competition, and Glenn Sundby, editor of Gymnast Magazine.

Potential gymnasts are invited to attend from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the gymnasium at 12th and Russ in downtown San Diego. The clinic cost is $2 per person.

Tommy Prothro Named Chargers Head Coach

Tommy Prothro is the new head coach of the San Diego Chargers.

Selection of Prothro, former Los Angeles Rams and UCLA coach, was announced by Chargers president Eugene Klein at a news conference at San Diego Stadium Tuesday. Contract terms were not disclosed.

"Tommy Prothro is an outstanding coach and a true gentleman," said Klein. "Of all the candidates for the position, we felt he was best qualified. He has the experience, the maturity and the leadership we were seeking."

Klein said he made a thorough investigation of all coaches available before deciding on Prothro. "This was a very careful decision," he emphasized.

Prothro, 53, was one of college football's most distinguished head coaches at Oregon State and UCLA before joining the Los Angeles Rams in 1971. He had 14 winning teams in 16 years with an overall record of 104 wins, 55 losses and three ties, including three Rose Bowl appearances.

In Prothro's first year in pro football, the Rams missed the playoffs by one-half game with a record of 8-5-1. In 1972, the Rams were 6-7-1 and Prothro was released from his contract. He did not coach in 1973.

A Prothro trademark with the Rams was a flamboyant offense with emphasis on the big play. But he was primarily noted in college football for his outstanding defensive teams.

Prothro's head coaching career began in 1955 when Oregon State hired him off Red Sanders' UCLA staff to guide the Beavers out of their football famine. He did just that.

His teams won 63, lost only 37 and tied 2 in his 10 years there. Twice his Beavers captured the Pacific Coast Conference championship (1956 and 1957), and in 1964 OSU was co-titlist of the AAWU. In between, the Beavers were an independent.

In 1965 Prothro returned to UCLA as head coach and restored the Bruins into a collegiate power. Not since 1961 had the Uclans had a winning team, but in '65 Prothro led them to an 8-2-1 record, including a 14-12 upset triumph over Michigan State in the Rose Bowl.

For that achievement, Prothro was voted "coach of the year" by his fellow members of the American Football Coaches' Association. Ensuing years at Westwood were almost as plentiful. UCLA was ranked in the nation's top 10 for four of his six years.

Prothro was born July 20, 1920 into a sports-minded atmosphere. His father, Thompson "Doc" Prothro, was a former major league baseball player and manager with the Philadelphia Phillies. The Ram coach also is a nephew of Gen. Clinton B. Cates, former commandant of the U. S. Marine Corps.

He competed in football, basketball, baseball and track for Central High in Memphis from 1934-36, and later at Riverside Military Academy in Gainesville, Ga.

He attended Duke University from 1938 until 1942, and was a star blocking back for Wallace Wade. He earned the Jacobs Award as the best blocker in the East, and also competed in baseball and lacrosse before graduating.

Prothro entered the coaching profession almost immediately, joining the staff at Western Kentucky where he was line coach in 1942.

However, World War II briefly interrupted his career, and Prothro served as an officer in the U. S. Navy for three years until his discharge in 1946.

For a year he was coach of the "B" squad at Vanderbilt, and then became backfield coach at the school under Red Sanders in 1947. When Sanders moved to UCLA, Prothro came with him as backfield coach, remaining as an assistant at the Westwood campus until he accepted the head job at Oregon State in 1955.

Helix Falls In Tourney Finals

A technical foul call with 22 seconds to play led to Helix High School's downfall in the finals of the Baron-Optimist Classic at Southwestern College last Saturday.

The Highlanders lost to Bonita Vista, 69-67, the host team. Helix was enjoying a one-point lead, 67-66, when they called time out. A subsequent check of the scorer's chart showed Helix had no more time outs, hence the technical foul.

The Barons Gary Wallin stepped to the free throw line and tied the game. They retained possession of the ball, and Bart Helms tossed in a 15-foot jumper with six seconds left. Helix was unable to hit the hoop in the dying seconds, and had to settle for second place.

Monte Vista, the pre-tourney favorite won seventh place by defeating Castle Park, 66-54. The win broke a three-game losing streak for the Monarchs.

Rich Teichman of Helix was named to the all-tourney team.

State Employment Services Office Again Changes Name

Resources Development, disability insurance made of available manpower (HRD) to Employment Development Department (EDD).

Earl Brian, California's Secretary of Health and Welfare, said this was one of several changes in the state's manpower operations proposed by the Reagan Administration to improve employment services.

These changes were incorporated in the California Employment Development Act, jointly sponsored by Senator Robert J. Lagomarsino (R-Ventura) and Assemblyman Bill Greene (D-Los Angeles).

The act was passed by the legislature and signed by Governor Reagan in October. Employment offices throughout the state will continue to serve jobseekers, unemployment insurance claimants, disability insurance claimants and all others who need help, including employers seeking workers.

The new department, under the Act, becomes part of a coordinated manpower planning system established within the Health and Welfare Agency. Dwight Geduldig, Director of the Department of Human Resources Development, will continue as Director of the Employment Development Department.

The act also establishes the California Manpower Planning Council, Brian said, which will be responsible to the governor for developing positive solutions to the state's manpower problems. It will review and coordinate activities of local manpower planning organizations to make sure the best use is made of available manpower funds. Its members include representatives of city, county and state government as well as citizens representing labor, business and other client groups, he said.

The act also establishes the California Manpower Planning Council, Brian said, which will be responsible to the governor for developing positive solutions to the state's manpower problems.

It will review and coordinate activities of local manpower planning organizations to make sure the best use is made of available manpower funds.

Effective January 1, the state's public employment service of manpower training programs, he said.

"Major cities and counties will be receiving manpower revenue sharing funds directly from the federal government to pay for manpower programs developed to meet local needs. The council will be the focal point at the state level where these programs can be evaluated and coordinated," Brian said.

"The aim of the new legislation is to streamline services to the unemployed — whether welfare recipients who need job training or highly-skilled professionals displaced by technological advances — and to make sure state and federal manpower funds are used in the most effective manner."

The state's employment service offices will be a part of this integrated system of manpower planning and services, Brian said. Most of the offices will become full-service community manpower centers, responsible for identifying and meeting the manpower needs of the community. Other field offices, such as tax service and farm labor offices, will continue as before, he added.

The new department will also be responsible for a job creation program involving government-backed loans to help small businesses, he said. It will help individuals start or expand a business when, through no fault of their own, they may be marginal credit risks. The program will concentrate on establishing such businesses in economically disadvantaged areas to promote more job opportunities.

Unemployment Rises

Layoffs caused by strikes, bad weather and the energy crisis combined in December to raise California's unemployment rate from 5.3 percent to 5.5 percent, it was announced today.

Dwight Geduldig, Director of the state's Employment Development Department, said total unemployment rose from 456,000 in November to 488,000 in December, an increase of 32,000.

Retail Sales Up

Preliminary data from the 1972 Census of Retail Trade show that sales of 114,465 retail trade establishments with one or more employees totaled $47,914 million, an increase of 52 percent over sales reported in 1967 when the last previous census was taken.

Warning Sounded On Bulk Meat Buying

The Department of Consumer Affairs and the Department of Food and Agriculture warn consumers to beware of bulk meat sales and food plans.

Just because you are buying a large quantity you may not be getting a "bargain." Prices are often higher than you would pay in a retail market and the quality may be lower.

The departments urge consumers to follow these tips before purchasing bulk meat or food or signing a food plan contract. Ask about the quality of the products you will be purchasing. Make sure the products you buy are not substituted with inferior items.

Ask for an itemized list of specific cuts or amounts of each product purchased. Often in bulk meat sales consumers think they will receive many steaks but end up with just a few steaks and a large amount of ground beef. You aren't getting a "bargain" by purchasing food and meat neither you nor your family likes to eat.

SDG&E Appeal On Gas Decision Submitted To Supreme Court

San Diego Gas & Electric Company last week asked the California Supreme Court to review and set aside a Public Utilities Commission decision that would deprive the company of large volumes of natural gas needed to meet the requirements of its customers.

The company said its customers have been paying substantial demand charges for the right to this gas under a long term contract between the utility and its supplier, Southern California Gas Company.

Unless the PUC decision is set aside or reversed, the company said, large quantities of gas will be diverted from SDG&E's customers to interruptible customers of the Southern California Gas Company in Los Angeles and surrounding areas.

Simultaneously, San Diego Gas & Electric Company asked the Supreme Court to stay or suspend enforcement of the PUC decision until the court acts on the company's petition for review.

The company said that if the PUC decision is not stayed or suspended, SDG&E, its customers and all the people of the San Diego area will suffer great and irreparable injury and damage.

The petition said the PUC decision would deprive the company of substantial volumes of natural gas previously under contract to it at a time when the San Diego area and the nation are facing a severe energy crisis.

In 1974 alone, if the weather is average, the decision would result in the diversion of more than 1 billion cubic feet of gas from SDG&E and its customers to Southern California Gas Company's interruptible customers. If 1974 is a cold year, the loss would amount to 3.1 billion cubic feet of gas. The loss of this gas would also force large industrial customers to find greater quantities of substitute fuels or curtail production. Substitute fuels would almost certainly have an adverse effect on air quality, and reductions in production would mean a loss of jobs.

The PUC's decision was rendered last August on a complaint that San Diego Gas & Electric Company filed against its supplier, Southern California Gas Company, seeking enforcement of the terms of the gas supply contract between the companies. SDG&E immediately filed a request with the PUC for rehearing and reconsideration of the case, but this was denied by the Commission December 4, 1973, without comment on the merits.

SDG&E contended that it was entitled to a set annual amount of gas plus additional volumes for winter peak use. The PUC ruled, however, that the peaking gas should not be in addition to the basic contract volume, but a part of it.

Editor's Note: Sheriff John Duffy has appointed Jim McCain to handle press relations for the Sheriff's Department. McCain, a 45-year-old PR man, will attempt to complete the rugged 18 week Sheriff's Academy. Along the way, he will write a series of weekly articles on what the Academy does to make a cop out of a recruit. Articles will focus on students from various communities and law enforcement agencies throughout San Diego County. This is the first in that series of articles.

Making the proverbial silk purse from the sow's ear may be child's play to the task Sheriff John Duffy has taken on — making a cop out of a PR man.

"Most law enforcement agencies take a good cop and try to make a public relations man out of him. Usually it doesn't work as well as everyone would like. So we're going to try to do it the other way, take a good PR man and make a cop out of him," Duffy said.

To do that, Duffy decided to send the PR man through the 18-week Sheriff's Academy at Miramar College — one of the most demanding physical

Financial Square Plaza Will Be People's Oasis

The plaza at The Financial Square will be a garden oasis for people to enjoy within a structural canyon of the city, according to the developers of the full-block development at Sixth and B Streets in downtown San Diego.

The 100 foot by 150 foot plaza will be a "people place" with every integrated part, from the tiled walkways to the bronze-hued precast concrete planter benches, designed to welcome visitors to the plaza, rather than overwhelm them with bleak space and inhuman scale, the developers said.

Visitors will enter the plaza through walkways radially paved with bronze-hued herringbone-patterned tiles that wind through verdant and protective landscaping to resting places and to the outdoor and indoor banking facilities of the San Diego Federal Savings and Loan building. The side walks surrounding the Financial Square block will be paved in the same herringbone tile concept.

The plaza, which is now 75 per cent. complete, evolved from a design study by Deems/Lewis and Partners, project architects, to determine people usage of building plazas nationally. The study showed that plazas that brought people together had a much higher usage than did those that were oriented only to the impressive architectural design of the buildings they served. From 750 to 1,000 people will be able to enjoy the 7,500 square feet of walkways and seating areas within the Financial Square plaza area.

By day, visitors will have maximum exposure of the sun as a result of the plaza's location on the southeast corner of the Financial Square block. By night, the plaza will be softly lit by lamps shining from below the lips of the planter benches lining the walkways.

In the second stage of the plaza development will be a waterfall and a central sculpture related to the origin of San Diego.

The Financial Square full city-block development, bounded by A and B Streets and Sixth and Seventh Avenues, features the 24-story San Diego Federal Savings building, scheduled for occupancy in the spring and containing more than 300,000 square feet of luxury office space. The completed project will also include a lowrise office structure, the quarter-acre plaza, and a multi-level terrace housing distinctive shops, restaurant and theatre.

The Financial Square project was designed and planned by the firm of Deems/Lewis and Partners, and is being built by Haas and Haynie Corporation, general contractors. Thomas-Fletcher-Nicol Company is exclusive leasing agent and property manager for the project.

'No Smoking' Signs Go Up In Doctors' Offices

"For your health and the health and comfort of others... Thank you for not smoking."

That message is now being posted in thousands of physicians' offices throughout the state, in the form of a sign mailed to the more than 25,000 physicians who are members of the California Medical Association.

CMA's House of Delegates decided that such a sign should be made available for posting in physicians' waiting rooms as one means to discourage smoking in public eyes. They may get areas, particularly in health care facilities.

The dual-purpose sign was included in the current issue of CMA's monthly medical journal, says the editor, Dr. Malcolm S. M. Watts of San Francisco, because CMA is "concerned with the non-smoker and his rights as other's problems."

much as with the smoker and his health."

He noted that "There is some evidence now that non-smokers have more bronchitis and more discomfort if they're in the presence of smokers than would otherwise be the case. The evidence that people who are in the presence of smokers get cancer of the lung, for instance, is not yet clear cut by any means. However, people who are in a smoke-filled room do have discomfort. Sometimes their eyes water. They may get some irritation of the respiratory tract. They may just be made to feel sick."

"We believe the time has come to call attention to the fact that non-smokers do have their rights, as well as the smokers, and that each should be tolerant of the smoker and his rights as other's problems."

Sheriff's PR Man, 45, Tackles Tough Academy

Editor's Note: Sheriff John Duffy has appointed Jim McCain to handle press relations for the Sheriff's Department. McCain, a 45-year-old PR man, will attempt to complete the rugged 18 week Sheriff's Academy. Along the way, he will write a series of weekly articles on what the Academy does to make a cop out of a recruit. Articles will focus on students from various communities and law enforcement agencies throughout San Diego County. This is the first in that series of articles.

By Jim McCain
Making the proverbial silk purse from the sow's ear may be child's play to the task Sheriff John Duffy has taken on — making a cop out of a PR man.

"Most law enforcement agencies take a good cop and try to make a public relations man out of him. Usually it doesn't work as well as everyone would like. So we're going to try to do it the other way, take a good PR man and make a cop out of him," Duffy said.

To do that, Duffy decided to send the PR man through the 18-week Sheriff's Academy at Miramar College — one of the most demanding physical on a semi-military basis, so is the academy — including addressing all instructors as "Sir." He was unimpressed that the PR man had undergone Navy recruit training, Officer Candidate School, and specialized military schools, plus 20 years military service. "Good, then you should make a good recruit," he responded.

Felkner said the students will receive 679 hours of classroom studies and will be awarded 18 college units by Miramar College. Subjects include peace officer orientation, patrol procedures, traffic control, community relations, arrest and control techniques, weaponry, first aid and rescue, investigative techniques, and Spanish.

He said the class will include deputy sheriffs who are residents of San Diego, El Cajon, Santee, Oceanside, and Spring Valley, plus members of the Chula Vista, Escondido and National City Police Departments, a State Park Ranger, two Navy students, and members of the Marine Corps Provost Marshal's offices at Camp Pendleton and the Marine Corps Recruit Depot.

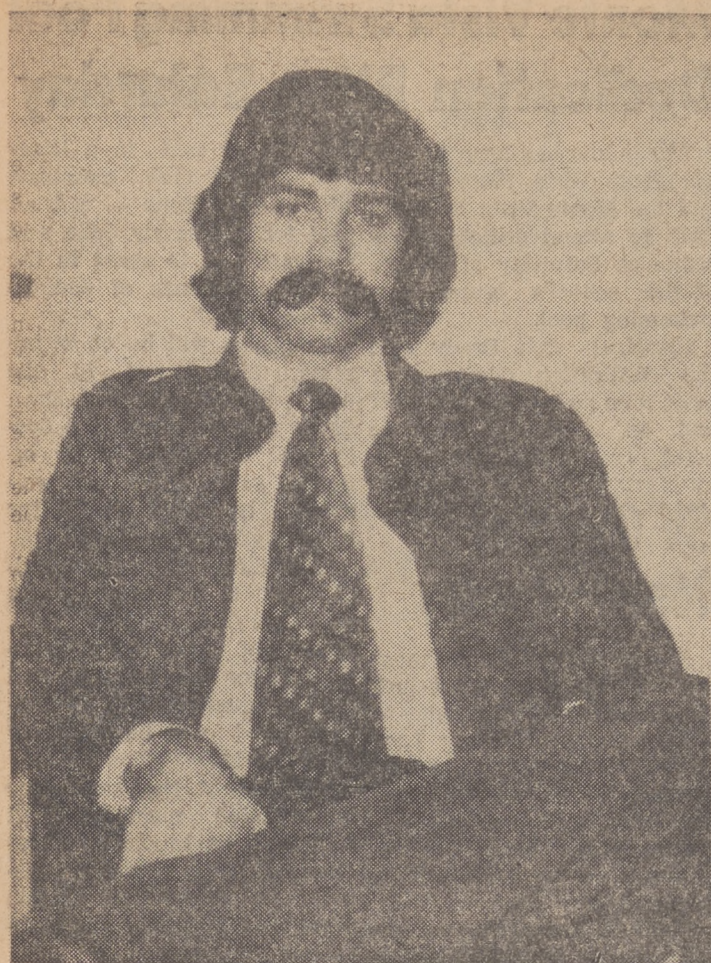

If there is any humor at the Miramar College Sheriff's Academy, it failed to surface in our initial sessions. The instructors are dead serious — "You'll have to get a haircut," especially about making good lawmen out of the 27 member class.

Teamwork is another key word. "You will pull your weight," Deputy Moulton counseled. "This is not a business for loners. You have to think of your fellow officers and that starts right here. We will be looking for anyone who is not a 'team man' — for anyone who is in this class only for what's in it for him."

For four hours our first day in class, Sgt. Kunkle lectured on case histories of how nearly 100 policemen have been murdered this year, "nearly every one of them because he violated some rule you will be taught here."

More than 20 percent of the policemen were murdered with their own guns. "When you are sitting in a

Dr. Michael McCrae Joins Medical Group

He attended podiatry school in San Francisco and served his first year of residency in Chicago at the Northlake Community hospital and his senior residency at California Podiatry hospital at San Francisco, graduating July 1.

Dr. McCrae is a candidate for a masters degree in surgery, having concluded his academic work, including teaching in classroom and operating room.

He is single and will continue his residence at the Mt. Vernon address in Lemon Grove.

Youth Service Bureaus Help Curb Delinquency

Youth service bureaus in California have been instrumental in diverting young people from the criminal justice system, and delinquency has been reduced in areas served by the bureaus, according to a report just released by the California Youth Authority.

A substantial reduction in juvenile arrests occurred in most of the bureaus' areas, compared with the period before the bureaus opened. In Pacifica, juvenile arrests decreased by 42 percent; in San Fernando by 20 percent; and in Richmond by 14 percent. The number of juvenile arrests referred to probation also decreased by 20 to 40 percent, the evaluation indicates. The study covers ten youth service bureaus from July, 1970, to June, 1972.

"Based on evidence from these pilot bureaus in California, youth service bureaus have accepted the challenge of coordinating resources to divert juveniles from the justice system."

The report also notes that the presence of a bureau seems to affect the youth in an area, even if they are not receiving direct service, because justice agencies begin "to handle youth in trouble differently."

The ten pilot bureaus provided direct service to more than 3,000 young people in 1970-71, and to nearly 5,000 more in 1971-72. Youth were referred for both delinquent and nondelinquent behavior by various individuals and agencies, most frequently schools.

JA Headquarters Moves to Helix

Junior Achievement headquarters will move on a temporary basis to space at Helix High School, it was announced last week together with the sale of the JA building at 3729 University ave., San Diego.

Meanwhile, the organization is dickering for three regional facilities in the area over the next three years. Until this spring, the headquarters will be at Helix. A spokesman said plans should be firm within 60 days for acquisition of a new building.

The University Avenue building, a 23-year-old structure, was sold by JA for $200,000 to George E. Fish and Gary Furstenfeld of F and F Realty. The building is a single story structure with a loading dock and contains 14,000 square feet. It is now available for lease.

The transaction was handled by John Andrews, vice president of Thomas-Fletcher-Nicol Company, who represented both buyer and seller.

CPO To Adopt Open Space Plan

Adoption of a regional open space plan and implementation program will top the agenda for a special meeting Monday at 8 a.m. of the Comprehensive Planning Organization of the San Diego Region. Directors will also adopt a regional development goals and objectives statement; approve a transit operating authority and accept final priorities for regional goals and objectives.

The meeting will be held in the Rondavel Room at the San Diego Zoo.

Big Brothers Need Help For 100 Boys

Saturday ends national Big Brothers Week and Big Brothers of San Diego has a New Year's resolution to suggest to local men.

Why not start the year out right by volunteering to help a 'fatherless' boy grow into responsible manhood?

As always there are many boys waiting to be matched with a Big Brother — over 100 at present, according to 1974 Big Brothers president, George Franovich.

"Only through the recruitment of more volunteers can these boys have the adult male companionship they want and need," Franovich says.

The need for the Big Brothers program is underscored by the fact that currently in the U. S. one out of ten families have no father in the home.

According to 1970 census figures this accounts for 18,000 boys between 8 and 16 growing up in fatherless homes in San Diego County.

A Big Brother need not be a saint nor a Santa Claus. The desire to befriend and help a 'fatherless' boy, spending several hours a week with him, is all that is required.

Men wishing to volunteer their services should contact Big Brothers of San Diego, 861 Sixth ave., Room 201, or call 234-9158.

puddle of your sweat doing pushups and pressing weights, keep in mind that when you leave here nobody is going to take your gun away from you," Kunkle said.

By the second day of the Academy, the classroom hours had grown to 11 hours — from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays and from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Wednesdays.

The extra hours on Tuesdays and Thursdays are to take a Spanish class. "When one of our deputies attempted to question three Spanish speaking people and the only thing he could say was from the public restrooms signs 'Lave sus Manos!' we knew it was time to teach our men Spanish," Felkner explained.

The Lemon Grove Fire Department, for the week of Dec. 31-Jan. 7, reported no fire calls and five first aid calls.

On Jan. 2, at 8:34 p.m., the first aid crew was summoned to the Lemon Grove Drug Store. There, they found Jack Ashbrook, of Acacia st., had suffered a possible stroke. He was given oxygen and sent to a hospital.

On Jan. 3 there were two calls: Rosene Albin, 71, suffered chest pains and was sent to a hospital; and Margaret Zielinski, 25, of Huntington Beach, was lying unconscious on a floor, at 7618 Lawford ct., and sent to a hospital.

There were two calls on Jan. 4: Kathy Fraust, 22, of San Diego, ill at 7065 Broadway, and sent to a hospital; and Howard Stanford, 54, of Waite dr., ill and hospitalized.

Spring Valley 'Ghirardelli Square' Fire Report Seen for SD Depot

The Spring Valley Fire Department answered five fire calls and 13 ambulance calls for the week of Dec. 31-Jan. 7.

On Jan. 3, at 4:08 a.m. firemen responded to a call at 3808 El Canto dr. Occupants of the home were away at the time. The fire was confined to a bedroom, a hallway and the kitchen. Cause of the fire and amount of damage is still under investigation.

On Jan. 2, at 12 noon, the ambulance was summoned to Campo rd. and Hollyhock ln. There, it was discovered that Scott A. Rucker, 10-years old, of 9350 Hollyhock, was dead at the scene.

Pennies Make Billionaires

For every one cent increase in the price of gasoline, the nations motorists pay a total of $1 billion, says the Cost of Living Council.

A $1.5 million grant from the federal Urban Mass Transit Administration has been awarded to the City of San Diego for the acquisition and rehabilitation of the Santa Fe depot for a mixed use transportation center.

San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson said chances are that the 60-year-old depot will be preserved as a result of negotiations with potential developers for creation of a "Ghirardelli Square-type" commercial center associated with transportation.

The development will add significantly to the importance of Downtown as the hub of transportation throughout the San Diego region, the Mayor said.

City planners foresee the use of the transportation center as a downtown terminal for the S.D. Transit Corp., AMTRAK, private bus and taxicab operators.

The estimated cost of acquisition and development will be about $5.6 million, the mayor said. Most of the cost would be born by private developers who would be granted long-term leases for commercial ventures in the depot.

Library Features Organic Gardening

The program will cover both organic vegetable and soil building and companion planting. At the conclusion of the program, Brooks will hold a question and answer period.

The Lemon Grove Library is located at 7735 Pacific ave., phone: 463-5982. All those interested in the subject are encouraged to attend.

RECLAMATION—Laurie Garofolo is shown watering a seedling with raw sewage water that was converted to clean irrigation water by a new waste treatment facility. Using natural gases from the atmosphere instead of harmful chemicals, the Cubic Corporation developed Hydrocube (in background) is being used by the U. S. Forestry Service as well as the San Diego Parks and Recreation Department.

New Sewage Disposal System Being Tested In San Diego County

Self-generating gases to eliminate virtually all harmful contaminants from raw sewage will be used for the first time by the Department of Agriculture's U. S. Forestry Service and the San Diego Department of Recreation and Parks.

The new method is being used as a pilot program to evaluate Hydrocube, a unique raw sewage disposal system developed by Cubic Corporation of San Diego. The Forestry Service has entered into a joint project with the Southern California company to install the system at the Japantown National Park in San Diego County.

The Hydrocube unit, as installed, converts 1000 gallons of sewage per day into reusable water suitable for irrigation, or fire fighting. The unit will be on site at the station where firemen and their families reside year round. It will undergo evaluation for one year. If Hydrocube meets the government agency's specifications, the system will be purchased, a spokesman for Cubic said.

Under terms of the project, Cubic furnished one Hydrocube unit and the Forestry Service the land and labor to install the new system.

At William Heise Park in North San Diego County, the Department of Recreation and Parks is also trying out Cubic's Hydrocube.

House Turned Into Shambles By Intruders

When Antonio Garcia, 1229 Buena Vista st., Spring Valley, got home the day after New Year's from a trip to Mexico, he found his house in a shambles and over $700 in property missing, he told Sheriff's Deputy Dave Pugh.

Garcia reported the intruders had entered the home through a back bedroom window and ransacked the house. Drawers were pulled out of dressers in all four bedrooms, and their contents scattered on the floor.

The bed in the master bedroom had been dismantled, and the contents of kitchen cabinets had been removed and thrown on the floor. A stereo tape player in the living room had been toppled and wires ripped loose from the back of the instrument, Pugh reported.

Items missing included a portable television set, a tape deck, various items of jewelry and a coin collection.

Burglars Hit For $5,000

Burglars hit the area for over $5,000 in cash, jewels, stereo equipment and mechanic's tools in recent days according to reports on file at the Lemon Grove Sheriff's Station.

Tuesday, Meredith Ebbert, 9068 Mac ln., Spring Valley, reported the loss of $500 in cash and a jade ring worth $900. She said the items were taken Monday while she was away from home from 2:45 to 8 p.m.

Earlier, David Ray Moran of El Cajon reported the loss of $3,000 worth of mechanic and machining tools from his place of business at 6500 Federal blvd. The theft occurred between January 2 and 4 while he was off work, he told Deputy C. L. Sanders.

Laurie I. Murphy, 1114 Jambucha ln., Spring Valley, said that while she was gone to the store for 15 minutes, someone kicked in the front door of her apartment and left with $1,200 worth of stereo equipment.

SV Boy First '74 Fatality

A Spring Valley boy last week became the first 1974 traffic fatality in this area, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Scott Anthony Rucker, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Rucker, 9350 Hollyhock rd., was killed when his bicycle struck a truck at the intersection of Campo and Hollyhock, the patrol said.

The dump truck, driven by Kenneth Beaumont, 35, of San Diego, was westbound on Campo road when young Rucker, riding southbound on Hollyhock, rode his bike into the truck, according to the reports. The lad was dead when an ambulance arrived.

Smog Device Disconnection Illegal Here

It is illegal to disconnect smog control devices on vehicles registered in California.

William Simmons, Executive Officer of California Air Resources Board issued this reminder to California motorists, following an announcement by the federal Environmental Protection Agency that federal law does not prohibit disconnection of the devices by an individual.

"It is not a federal offense," Simmons said. "But it is against the law in California to disconnect or modify any smog control device, whether it was original equipment or is a retrofit device on a used vehicle. California Highway Patrol enforces this section of the law, and no let-up in enforcement is planned because of the energy crisis."

Simmons pointed out that new vehicle emissions have been reduced drastically in the past decade — hydrocarbons are down 89%, carbon monoxide 68% and oxides of nitrogen 30%. "We do not want to lose the advantage we have gained in air pollution control," he said.
